Hello from all of us at Artform,

We've had a great six years since establishing Hamilton Court Developments in 2013. In that time we've created almost 100 new homes and circa 20,000 sq.ft. of commercial space in London. I'm immensely proud of what we've achieved so far, and it means a lot to have your support as we continue on our journey.

Today, however, we've changed our name. Our old name served us well, but, as you may know, our Directorship has changed and we've grown to a point where HCD doesn't reflect who we are and what we do. That's why we've chosen Artform. We see our role as more than just a developer; we champion design and innovation, ultimately striving to build spaces that make people's lives better. An art form is defined as an activity that's regarded as a medium of creative self-expression, and this is what development means to us.

This name change marks our first steps forward in our brilliant new workspace as our team continues to expand. We're thrilled to have our spades in the ground at 291 Hackney Road – our first Artform branded site that's scheduled for completion at the beginning of 2020. This is set to be a flagship project for us, and we're incredibly excited to announce that it will be represented by The Modern House, an estate agency that believes in design as a powerful force for good. We couldn't be more delighted with this collaboration.

Aside from Hackney Road, we're actively seeking new opportunities. In the last twelve months we've acquired three sites, providing 46 apartments and circa 5,000 sq.ft of commercial space. Development remains at the heart of our business, but, as you may have seen, we've also extended our reach into Project Management. At present, we have six Artform PM jobs in various stages of the development process, and we're keen to hear about any other projects that may benefit from our support, both in London and further afield.

Once again, I'd like to take this opportunity to thank you for your support. We look forward to hearing about any exciting site acquisition opportunities, as well as potential Project Management roles where we can add value for you or your clients.

Best wishes,

Jonathan Ellis
